COST OF A UNION.

That of the Printers Conducted at an Expense of 35 Cents Per Capita.

The current number of Typographical ournal, issued from the headquarters in his city of the international union, A. G. Wines editor, contains an editorial which erated at a very low cost. The total amount spent in salaries, office expenses, stantionery, postage, telegrams and printing, etc., was $10,198.89 for the past year. This was a little more than 10 per cent. of the receipts and a little less than 8 per cent. of the gross business transacted. The cost is a little more than 31% cents per capita, or adding the cost of the Journal publication, the per capita cost is 47½ cents. The salary account includes the sums paid the president, first, second, third and fourth vice presidents, officers made necessary by reason of the wide territory covered by the union. The editorial declares that the union is conducted much more chearly and econducted much m onducted much more cheapty and eco-ically than the average corporation and much-lauded insurance companies. The total receipts for the year were $02,902.66, and the expenditures $89,650.72.

NEW BOARD OF SAFETY

CHARLES MAGUIRE, FREDERICK J. MACK AND THOMAS J. MORSE.

Thomas Colbert Will Be Superintendent of Police-Members Say the Laws Will Be Enforced.

Mayor Taggart officially announced his Board of Public Safety last night. The rew members are Charles Maguire, Frederick J. Mack and Thomas J. Morse, the latter being the Republican member. Mr. Taggart and his new board held an hour's conference last night regarding the policy of the administration, the work of the safety department and the minor appointments to be made. Thomas F. Colbert, claim agent of the Indianapolis Brewing Company, was decided upon as superintendent of police, 32-inch wide Calico, per yard 0 4 C | but the official announcement was not made. Mr. Taggart requested that Richard Herrick be retained as clerk of the new board and the members respected his wishes.

All three of the men are good business men, but they have had no acquaintance with affairs of the city. They were told y Mr. Taggart that a strict enforcement of the laws would be expected. Mr. Maguire is proprietor of the Granger dry goods store on West Washington street. Two years ago he was Democratic candidate for county clerk. He lives at No. 432 North Pennsylvania street. Speaking of his opinions upon the affairs of his department, Mr. Maguire

"I take the office understanding that all the laws shall be enforced. Personally I believe they should be. There shall be no open town with my consent and I know the board is united upon that cuestion. If anybody thinks that the town is to be turned loose, they are mistaken."

"You mean that the saloon and gambling laws will be enforced?"

"That is what I mean. The laws shall be enforced as rigidly as they have been."

Mr. Mack is a member of the firm of F.

J. Mack & Co., house, sign and fresco painters, at No. 32 South Meridian street. He lives at No. 527 South Illinois street. He was asked regarding the policy of the laws."

"Do you mean the enforcement of the gambling law?"

"Yes, that among other laws. I have no use for gamblers and they, with others, must obey the laws."

"Regarding the liquor law?"

"It with all other laws will be enforced."

Mr. Morse, the Republican member, is a building contractor, living at No. 193 North West street. Several years ago he was a member of the Council. He said:

"The new board will insist upon an enforcement of the laws. We have been in conference with Mr. Taggart and each of us was given to understand, in accepting the appointments, that the cuforcement of the laws would be expected. By this I mean the saloon and gambling laws as well as all others."

The mew board members would not talk regarding changes to be made. It was said that no radical changes are to be made. This morning the board will hold a meeting, after which there may be a few announcements to make. Mr. Colbert will probably be officially appointed and instructed to take charge of affairs at once. Mr. Colbert will was not a candidate, but it was observed that he had a long talk with members of the board and that Willis McGinnis, James Office seeds and the had a long talk with members of the board and that Willis McGinnis, James Office seeds and the policy of Mr. Powell is announced as the fire department did not give much concern to the politicians.

The office seekers were after Mr. Taggart until a late hour last night, and the new board members were given an idea of what they may expect. Mr. Mack was se.zed before he had fairly reached the corridor from his conference with the Mayor. A stalwart man held him while he poured his supplication into the new official's ear. Mr. Mack replied that he could make no promises, to which the office seeker replied:

"That's all right. I knowed you wouldn't shake your friends, an' I t'ought I'd get in an early bid, see?"

Dr. C. O. Durham was present in the rush line last night. He desires to be police surgeon.

No one seems to know who are to be the members of the new Board of Works.

Mr. Taggart said last night that the board will probably be announced to-day. Mr. Osterman is regarded as a likely candidate, Mr. Taggart said last night that the board will probably be announced to-day. Mr. Osterman is regarded as a likely candidate, provided he wants the situation, but a friend of Mr. Osterman said last night that he had seen enough during his one year to drive all desire for the presidency of the board from his mind. It is said that Mr. Taggart wants men for his board who can devote their entire time to the work.

C. Trusler as controller. Mr. Johnson began his new work within two hours after Mr. Taggart became Mayor. He filed his bond of $25,000, with W. H. Morrison, A. G. Fosdyke, Sylvester Johnson and Franklin Landers as sureties. He says he has not yet fully considered the appointment of his deputies. It is thought that he may make no change in the chief deputyship until Harry B. Smith becomes auditor, and will then appoint Will Hughes, Mr. Taggart's successor. vote their entire time to the work.

The hustle for the city attorneyship continues. It is conceded by the politicians that Captain J. B. Curtis ought to have it. John W. Kern wants it, and Thomas L. Sullivan is mentioned for it. The Board of Health will probably not be announced for three or four days. Dr. Stillson, who was removed by Mr. Denny, wants to be vindicated and he has haunted the corridors of Mr. Taggart's hotel.

To classify the applications for the minor offices is an impossibility. The applicants are legion. They are about the hotel, about the home of the new Mayor, and are in his way to and from his office. Mr. Taggart has petitions bearing sufficient names to elect him to the presidency. He has a pile of letters which extends from the floor nearly to the top of his desk. He desires to settle the question of appointments as soon as possible. THE TAGGART INAUGURAL.

The New Mayor Was Only Out of Pub-

He Office Two Hours. At 12:01 p. m. yesterday, to be exact, Thomas Taggart became Mayor and Caleb S. Denny ex-Mayor. The change was brought about in uneventful fashion, although the new Mayor's approach to his official chambers was accompanied by cheer from several hundred office seekers who had been waiting in the corridors of the dark and gloomy basement. The clans who want jobs, headed by Bill Flynn and other workers, had gathered early on the scene, and spent the time before Mr. Tag-gart's arrival in peeping into the various offices guessing as to what jobs they would like best. Several saw Bart Parker at his desk, and after the fashion of small chil-dren passing a shop window desk, and after the fashion of small children passing a shop window they "choosed" that particular desk, but Parker only grinned, for he knew how safe his job was to be. Near the noon hour Mr. Denny asked that Mr. Taggart be sent for if he were in the building, as the old Mayor expressed some anxiety to retire promptly on time. It was arranged that "Dick" Herrick, of the Board of Safety, was to administer the cath. E. M. Johnson, the new controller, James B. Curcis, chairman of the Democratic city commit-tee, and a few other o' Mr. Taggart's friends accompanied the Mayor-elect. Mr. Denny told Mr. Taggart that it didn't matter if the new man was a few minutes early; Mr. Denny was ready to go. Whereupon Mr. Taggart, with true Democratic simplicity and concern to have no interregnum in office-holding, replied: "Well, you see I am rather in a hurry. I resigned as auditor at 10 o'clock, and I have lost nearly two hours already. I want that I will faithfully and impartially dis-charge my duties as Mayor of the city of Indianapolis, according to law, and to the best of my ability, so help me God." Mr. Denny congratulated the new Mayor and wished him a prosperous and successful administration. He offered the new man any assistance in his power. The com-Mr. Taggart and the keys turned over to him. Yells went up for a speech from Taggart, and Bill Flynn took the cue to lift the Mayor to a table. Taggart said he ap-preciated the honor, and so forth, and added: "I promise you here and now that I shall try to give the people of this city ah honest, businesslike administration."

Herrick did not show up in time, and the oath of office was administered by City Clerk Nixon. The oath is as follows:

"Bully boy, Tom!" shouted Bill Flynn, who for the once dropped the appellation of "Ily Tom." Sam Dinnin, saloon keeper, perched up in a transom window, repeated "Bully boy, Tom," and continued: "Three cheers for Tommy Taggart, by God!" The gang all took up the cry and then Cox mounted a table and made a speech. Stuckmeyer did

Then Mr. Denny was called for, and he made a speech. Said he:
"I am still a citizen of Indianapolis, and "I am still a citizen of Indianapolis, and proud of it. I have tendered my help to Mayor Taggart in case he should need an explanation of the duties of the office which he has just taken. I do not think he will need help. He is a business man, and he possesses the confidence of the people. He has the votes of the people behind him, and I am sure that he will give the city a clean, honest administration."

Cries for "Rhody Shiel" brought no response, but E. M. Johnson made a few remarks. For a short time afterwards Tagmarks. For a short time afterwards Tag-gart was busy shaking hands.

ACTING SUPT. CAMPBELL

Receives Instructions to Enforce All

Laws as Usual-Will Do So. Captain Campbell, acting superintendent of police after the retirement of George W. Powell, yesterday received the first order from Mayor Taggart. It came by telephone and was to the effect that all laws should be enforced just as they have been. It was generally understood that the order had no particular significance, but was issued as an announcement that the new Mayor had taken his office. Mr. Powell vacated the office of superintendent of police at noon, and according to instructions from the Board of Safety Captain Campbell assumed the responsibilities of the office until the new superintendent should be appointed. In the superintendent's office Mr. Powell had placed a picture of Captain Conner, one of Mayor Denny and another of himself, and an immense frame in which Conner, one of Mayor Denny and another of himself, and an immense frame in which were arranged photographs of all the members of the force, together with the members of the Board of Safety, in the form of a large star, had occupied a large space at one end of the room. When Mr. Powell retired yesterday he removed these pictures; also his private desk, which he had placed in the office, leaving the heretofore cheerful office to present a rather desolate appear.

During the day numerous reports reached the police headquarters that certain persons had been appointed on the various boards, but many of the reports were contradictory, and no confidence was placed in them. Several messages were received stating that Thomas Colbert had been appointed superintendent of police, and it was generally supposed that he would be the man. During the afternoon Henry Victor, proprietor of Mozart Hall and the saloon below; John Weilacher, a saloon keeper on East Washington street, and J. W. Loeper, one of the majority of the Indianapolis School Board, called at the police station and asked for Superintendent Colbert, stating that they wished to congratulate him. When informed that he was not there, and that no information of his appointment had reached headquarters, they departed.

The enildren also called on Auditor Will Hughes, who, at the request of Miss Blaich. expinined to them what the duties of the office are. It was Mr. Hughes's first official speech, having just been sworn into office. Assessor 'Gene Saulcy also received a visit and explained to the children what his duties are. The courts and other offices were visited. The trip was apparently greatly enjoyed by the children.

Many Resignations.

E. Lynn Atkinson and John Osterman sent their resignations to Mayor Taggart immediately after his inauguration, to take effect as soon as he accepts them. Mr. Holton is not in the city. He will probably resign as soon as he returns. ORGANIZATION COMPLETED WITHIN President Costello Names His Committees-Personnel of the Big Democratic Majority.

The new Common Council organized at fifteen minutes. There was somewhat of a from that of two years ago, when the Republicans were so victorious. At that time there were flowers on many desks, but last night not a bouquet nor even a rose graced a desk. Ex-City Clerk Nixon called the body to order and asked for nominations for president. Mr. Coulter named Mr. Costello, and Mr. Cooper, for the Republicans, seconded the nomination. Mr. Costello receiving the entire vote. Mr. Coulter, for vice president, also received twenty-one votes. The new president made a neat speech of thanks, expressing the hope that all would be harmonious in the Council in the coming two years.

As far as avoirdupois is concerned, the new Council is heavier than the old one, for on the Democratic side of the house are some heavy weights, and they loomed up like the rush line on a college football team. The Democrats have the north side the chamber, with a skirmish line thrown out to protect the right flank of the main body of Democrats. The Republicans have the seats to the south, fortunately near the door, in case the heavy rush line should suddenly make a physical onslaught. Mr. Murphy has the desk next to the door, and then in line follow the desks of Messrs.
Allen, Payne, Woody, Puryear and Cooper.
Twenty were present at roll-call last night, Mr. Puryear coming in at 8 o'clock, the hour he thought the body was to meet. The old Council rules were adopted until a new set can be prepared by a committee, to be presented at the meeting a week from next Monday night. President Costello announced his committees as follows: Accounts and Claims-O'Connor, Wolcott Contracts and Franchises-Colter, Montgomery, Smith, Rauch, Madden, Murphy

Elections—Dudley, Colter and Payne. Fees and Salaries—Madden, Ohleyer and Finance-Wolcott, Dewar, Kirkhoff, Clark, Ohleyer, Cooper and Allen. Judiciary-Rauch, Sherer and Cooper. Ordinances-Clark, O'Connor and Allen. Printing - Montgomery, O'Connor and Health-Dewar, Wolcott and Woody.

Public Morals-Ohleyer, Rauch and Pur-Public Property and Improvement-Kirk-hoff, Dudley and Cooper. Public Safety and Comfort-Sherer, Clark and Woody.

Railroads—Smith, Colter and Shafer.
Rules—Costello, Dudley and Puryear.
Sewers, Streets and Alleys—Montgomery,
Dewar and Woody.
In the last Council Mr. Allen was on the important committee on franchises and contracts, a committee which will have importacts, a committee which will have impor-tant matters before it in the next two years, but Mr. Murphy and Mr. Shafer are the Republican members of the committee now. Mr. Allen will remain on the finance committee, Mr. Cooper also being added to the committee.

POGUE'S RUN IMPROVEMENT.

Report and Plan by City Engineer Brown Submitted Yesterday. City Engineer Brown has made a final report to the Board of Public Works concerning the recent damages caused by the overflow of Pogue's run. The engineer also offers some suggestions which, he thinks, if carried out, will prevent future floods. The map accompanying the report shows that between Michigan street and Clifford water level. Below Washington street there was little damage, the stream being practically confined to its banks. The city engineer finds that the stream above Washington street is too narrow and not of suffiton street is too narrow and not of sufficient depth to carry the water of such a flood. It is necessary, he thinks, to widen and deepen the channel according to the plans made some years ago.

"Should this work be done," says the engineer, "the water will come down more rapidly than heretofore, and, as it ran bank-full under the present conditions, it is clear that the channel below Washington street will not be sufficient to carry the flood water when the channel above is improved. It will, therefore, be necessary to improve the channel below as well as above. The increase in the amount of water to drain into Pogue's run in the future will not be great, as there are few sewers to be built to drain into it, but this small increase adds an argument for increasing the capacity of the run.

"The plan already sketched and on file in the office provides for a channel of uniform width, forty feet wide below Market street, and thirty-eight feet wide above Market street. This channel it is proposed to secure by widening where necessary, straightening where possible, and by protecting the banks with stone walls and the bottom with stone paving, with a specially constructed narrow channel in the center to concentrate the low-water flow."

The city engineer concludes that the improvements to the channel must be made at once, or at least the bank must be pro-provements to the channel must be made at once, or at least the bank must be protected in many places where washing is likely to occur. He finds the bridges over the run in bad condition, except at Meridian and Washington streets. City Attorney Scott was asked by the board to furnish an opinion on the method of assessing benefits and damages in case the new board sees fit to undertake the improvements suggested. He says that if it is found that the work will benefit the outlying districts the assessment may be made by the Circuit Court in the usual manner, but he says he does not furnish a studied opinion, preferring not to do so when the work will be done by the new administra-CITY SANITARIAN'S REPORT.

Three Samples of Milk Show Evidence of Water-Diphtheria Deaths. The report of the city sanitarian for last month shows 2,131 inspections of all kinds made. There were fifty-two samples of milk collected and analyzed. Only three were found to contain less than 3 per cent, of fats, indicating water. They were from Chris Sommerland, Madison avenue, 2½ per cent.; John Wortman, Rural street, 2¾ per cent., and G. W. Shelly, 1319 North Capitol avenue, 2¾ per cent. There were 118 contagious diseases tagious disease cards posted and 52 removed. Live stock weighing 11,395 pounds was condemned and killed. Contagious diseases were reported during the month as follows: Diphtheria, 105; scar-let fever, 25; typhoid fever, 48; measles, 1. Deaths from diphtheria were 25 per cent.

Improvements Ordered. The following improvement resolutions were adopted yesterday by the Public Works Board: For grading Capitol avenue at the State
